

TURF & SPORTS VENUE SOFTWARE

Invoicing software built for how a turf actually books

A cricket turf or badminton court doesn't book by the day — it books by the hour, and two overlapping bookings on the same court is the one mistake that costs you a customer. Invoice2Track checks every new slot against what's already on the calendar before it confirms, then bills hours times rate the moment play is done.

How it works

1 Pick the court and slot

Choose which court and which hour (or consecutive hours) a customer wants — a one-hour game never needs a full-day booking.

2 System checks for overlap

The requested slot is checked against every existing booking for that court and date before it's confirmed — a genuine double-booking simply can't be created.

3 Confirm the booking

Once clear, the slot is locked in and shows on the calendar immediately, visible to anyone checking availability next.

4 Bill by hours played

When play's done, the invoice is hours times the court's rate — straightforward, and ready the moment the customer's ready to pay.

5 Track what's billed

The month view shows every booking color-coded by billing status, so nothing slips through unbilled at the end of a busy week.
